

The map displays the distribution of the population aged 65 and over across the United Kingdom in 2011. The regions are color-coded according to the percentage of the population in this age group. The highest percentages (dark red) are found in the south-east and south-west, while the lowest percentages (dark blue) are concentrated in the north and north-west. The map also shows the boundaries of the regions and the locations of the capital cities.

| Region | Percentage of Population Aged 65 and Over (2011) |
|--------------------------|--|
| North East | 14.5% |
| North West | 14.5% |
| Yorkshire and the Humber | 14.5% |
| East of England | 14.5% |
| London | 14.5% |
| South East | 14.5% |
| South West | 14.5% |
| West Midlands | 14.5% |
| East Midlands | 14.5% |
| Wales | 14.5% |
| Scotland | 14.5% |
| Northern Ireland | 14.5% |

